BENTONVILLE, Ark., Nov. 13, 2014 -- Wal-Mart Stores, Inc. (NYSE: WMT) today reported financial results for the third quarter ended October 31, 2014. Consolidated net sales for the third quarter were $118.1 billion, an increase of 2.8 percent over last year. This quarter included the negative impact of approximately $396 million from currency exchange rate fluctuations. On a constant currency basis,¹ net sales would have increased 3.1 percent to $118.5 billion. Membership and other income increased 13.9 percent versus last year. Total revenue was $119.0 billion, an increase of approximately $3.3 billion, or 2.9 percent.

Consolidated net income attributable to Walmart was $3.7 billion, a decrease of 0.7 percent. Diluted earnings per share from continuing operations attributable to Walmart were $1.15, or 0.9 percent above last year's $1.14. Additionally, the company's effective tax rate was 31.8 percent, below the previous guidance of around 34 percent, due to certain discrete tax matters. While the company benefited in the quarter from a lower than anticipated tax rate, the benefit was offset by a number of discrete charges. Operating expenses were impacted by an organizational restructuring in the U.K. and the Hurricane Odile losses in Mexico. Net interest expense was impacted as a result of reclassifying certain store leases from operating leases to capital leases.

Solid EPS performance

"Walmart reported solid earnings per share of $1.15 in the third quarter," said Doug McMillon, Wal-Mart Stores, Inc. president and CEO. "The highlights for the quarter include the positive comp in Walmart U.S., including the strong performance from Neighborhood Markets, the 21 percent increase in e-commerce sales globally and the profit performances from Sam's Club and our International business."

McMillon stressed the need to strengthen Walmart's sales growth and improve the customer experience, both in stores and online.

"We're investing in key areas of our business, including wages in our U.S. stores and in e-commerce and mobile capabilities. We continue to see opportunities to improve our business," he added. "Being the price leader is an ongoing priority for us and a commitment to customers. As with every year, that is even more important during the holiday season. We have some things in our favor this fourth quarter, including lower fuel prices in the U.S. and other key markets, and we're set to deliver for customers during this time."

Guidance

"Our earnings per share guidance assumes several important factors, including the economic conditions in several of our largest markets, and a highly promotional holiday season," said Charles Holley, executive vice president and chief financial officer. "As a reminder, our full year EPS guidance includes the four factors we discussed last quarter, which were higher U.S. health-care costs, incremental investments in e-commerce, ongoing investments in Sam's Club, and our effective tax rate. We anticipate our full year effective tax rate will range between 32 and 34 percent."

"While historically our tax rate tends to moderate toward the end of the fiscal year, it is important to remember that assessments of certain tax contingencies, valuation allowances, changes in tax law, outcomes of administrative audits and the impact of discrete items could affect our rate," added Holley. "We are monitoring progress in Congress with respect to the extension of certain U.S. income tax legislation that expired at the end of calendar year 2013, which if not passed, could drive our effective tax rate toward the high end of our estimated range for the full year."

"Taking all of these factors into account, we are forecasting EPS for the fourth quarter between $1.46 and $1.56," said Holley, and EPS for the full year to range between $4.92 and $5.02, which compares to our previous guidance of $4.90 to $5.15. These ranges include our estimate of approximately $0.03 per share in charges related to the previously announced future closure of underperforming stores in Walmart Japan."

Returns

The company paid $1.5 billion in dividends and repurchased approximately 1.1 million shares for $82 million in the third quarter. In total, the company returned approximately $1.6 billion to shareholders through dividends and share repurchases.

Return on investment¹ (ROI) for the trailing 12-months ended Oct. 31, 2014 was 16.4 percent, compared to 17.5 percent for the prior comparable period. The decrease in ROI was primarily due to lower operating income, as well as ongoing capital investment in store growth and e-commerce initiatives.

Free cash flow¹ was $7.2 billion for the nine months ended Oct. 31, 2014, compared to $3.8 billion in the prior year. The increase in free cash flow was primarily due to the timing of income tax payments and capital expenditures.

Net sales results

Net sales, including fuel, were as follows:

(dollars in billions)	Three Months Ended October 31,			Nine Months Ended October 31,
	2014	2013	Percent Change	2014	2013	Percent Change
Walmart U.S.	$ 70.025	$ 67.692	3.4%	$ 208.478	$ 202.973	2.7%

Consolidated	$ 118.076	$ 114.876	2.8%	$ 351.579	$ 344.290	2.1%

The following explanations provide additional context to the above table.

- On a constant currency basis,¹ Walmart International's net sales for the quarter would have been $34.1 billion, an increase of 2.9 percent over last year. Currency exchange rate fluctuations negatively impacted net sales by $396 million.
- Sam's Club net sales, excluding fuel,¹ were $12.7 billion, an increase of 2.3 percent over last year.
- On a constant currency basis,¹ consolidated net sales would have increased 3.1 percent to $118.5 billion.

"We had several merchandise categories driving top-line growth," said Greg Foran, Walmart U.S. president and CEO. "I'm encouraged by our performance during key seasonal events. We had strong back-to-school results in apparel, home and school supplies, and we ended the quarter well by executing a strong Halloween event."

Segment operating income

Segment operating income was as follows:

(dollars in billions)	Three Months Ended October 31,			Nine Months Ended October 31,
	2014	2013	Percent Change	2014	2013	Percent Change
Walmart U.S.	$ 4.932	$ 4.991	-1.2%	$ 15.159	$ 15.571	-2.6%
Walmart International	1.430	1.379	3.7%	4.121	3.921	5.1%

Sam's Club (excluding fuel)	0.455	0.432	5.3%	1.398	1.435	-2.6%

"We're being purposeful to have the right balance of wages to serve customers. We're focused on improving customer service, particularly for the holiday season," said Foran. "Overall, operating expenses deleveraged 10 basis points, and coupled with the decline in gross margin rate, led to a 1.2 percent decrease in operating income."

"We had a solid third quarter, once again growing operating income faster than sales, and we gained share in most of our largest markets," said David Cheesewright, Walmart International president and CEO. "I'm excited about the steps we've taken to accelerate growth in e-commerce, including the launch of new expanded assortments and services in Mexico and China. We also expanded the number of collection points for online customers in the U.K. and China."

"Although we lapped the fee increase from last year, our membership income growth remained strong at 10.1 percent," said Rosalind Brewer, Sam's Club president and CEO. "Clearly, our members responded positively to our efforts to enhance membership value."

U.S. comparable store sales review and guidance

"Our 0.5 percent comp was the first positive comp in seven quarters. Our overall grocery comp, which includes food and consumables, was relatively flat," Foran said. "Comp sales were positively impacted by net inflation, but were negatively affected by SNAP-related headwinds."

"I'm pleased by our Neighborhood Market performance, which reported an approximately 5.5 percent comp for the quarter," explained Foran. "We continued to see sales increases in Neighborhood Market pharmacy and strong growth in consumables, as we focused on in-stock and optimizing the store with relevant offerings for the customer."

For the 13-week period ending Jan. 30, 2015, Walmart U.S. expects comp store sales to be between flat and 1 percent. Last year, Walmart's comp sales declined 0.4 percent for the 14-week period ended Jan. 31, 2014.

"In the third quarter, comps increased 0.4 percent, driven by relatively balanced growth in traffic and ticket," said Brewer. "We were pleased to see a cumulative comp improvement of 90 basis points over the 39-week period, and we are working even faster to infuse newness in our business to drive membership value."

Sam's Club expects comp sales, excluding fuel,¹ for the 13-week period ending Jan. 30, 2015 to be between flat and 2 percent. Last year, comp sales, excluding fuel,¹ decreased 0.1 percent for the 14-week period ended Jan. 31, 2014.

Walmart U.S. and Sam's Club will report comparable sales for the 13-week period ending Jan. 30, 2015 on Feb. 19, when the company reports fourth quarter and fiscal year results.

Wal-Mart Stores, Inc.Reconciliations of and Other Information Regarding Non-GAAP Financial Measures
(Unaudited)(In millions, except per share data)*

The following information provides reconciliations of certain non-GAAP financial measures presented in the press release to which this reconciliation is attached to the most directly comparable financial measures calculated and presented in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles ("GAAP"). The company has provided the non-GAAP financial information presented in the press release, which is not calculated or presented in accordance with GAAP, as information supplemental and in addition to the financial measures presented in the press release that are calculated and presented in accordance with GAAP. Such non-GAAP financial measures should not be considered superior to, as a substitute for, or as an alternative to, and should be considered in conjunction with the GAAP financial measures presented in the press release. The non-GAAP financial measures in the press release may differ from similar measures used by other companies.

Calculation of Return on Investment and Return on Assets

Management believes return on investment ("ROI") is a meaningful metric to share with investors because it helps investors assess how effectively Walmart is deploying its assets. Trends in ROI can fluctuate over time as management balances long-term potential strategic initiatives with possible short-term impacts.

ROI was 16.4 percent and 17.5 percent for the trailing 12 months ended October 31, 2014 and 2013, respectively. The decline in ROI was primarily due to the decrease in operating income, as well as our continued capital investment in store growth and e-commerce.

We define ROI as adjusted operating income (operating income plus interest income, depreciation and amortization, and rent expense) for the trailing 12 months divided by average invested capital during that period. We consider average invested capital to be the average of our beginning and ending total assets, plus average accumulated depreciation and average amortization, less average accounts payable and average accrued liabilities for that period, plus a rent factor equal to the rent for the fiscal year or trailing 12 months multiplied by a factor of eight. When we have discontinued operations, we exclude the impact of the discontinued operations.

Our calculation of ROI is considered a non-GAAP financial measure because we calculate ROI using financial measures that exclude and include amounts that are included and excluded in the most directly comparable GAAP financial measure. For example, we exclude the impact of depreciation and amortization from our reported operating income in calculating the numerator of our calculation of ROI. In addition, we include a factor of eight for rent expense that estimates the hypothetical capitalization of our operating leases. We consider return on assets ("ROA") to be the financial measure computed in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles ("GAAP") that is the most directly comparable financial measure to our calculation of ROI. ROI differs from ROA (which is consolidated income from continuing operations for the period divided by average total assets of continuing operations for the period) because ROI: adjusts operating income to exclude certain expense items and adds interest income; adjusts total assets of continuing operations for the impact of accumulated depreciation and amortization, accounts payable and accrued liabilities; and incorporates a factor of rent to arrive at total invested capital.

Although ROI is a standard financial metric, numerous methods exist for calculating a company's ROI. As a result, the method used by management to calculate our ROI may differ from the methods used by other companies to calculate their ROI. We urge you to understand the methods used by other companies to calculate their ROI before comparing our ROI to that of such other companies.

The calculation of ROI, along with a reconciliation to the calculation of ROA, the most comparable GAAP financial measure, is as follows:

Free Cash Flow

We define free cash flow as net cash provided by operating activities in a period minus payments for property and equipment made in that period. Free cash flow was $7.2 billion and $3.8 billion for the nine months ended October 31, 2014 and 2013, respectively. The increase in free cash flow was primarily due to the timing of income tax payments and capital expenditures.

Free cash flow is considered a non-GAAP financial measure. Management believes, however, that free cash flow, which measures our ability to generate additional cash from our business operations, is an important financial measure for use in evaluating the company's financial performance. Free cash flow should be considered in addition to, rather than as a substitute for, consolidated income from continuing operations as a measure of our performance and net cash provided by operating activities as a measure of our liquidity.

Additionally, Walmart's definition of free cash flow is limited, in that it does not represent residual cash flows available for discretionary expenditures, due to the fact that the measure does not deduct the payments required for debt service and other contractual obligations or payments made for business acquisitions. Therefore, we believe it is important to view free cash flow as a measure that provides supplemental information to our Condensed Consolidated Statements of Cash Flows.

Although other companies report their free cash flow, numerous methods may exist for calculating a company's free cash flow. As a result, the method used by Walmart's management to calculate our free cash flow may differ from the methods used by other companies to calculate their free cash flow. We urge you to understand the methods used by other companies to calculate their free cash flow before comparing our free cash flow to that of such other companies.

The following table sets forth a reconciliation of free cash flow, a non-GAAP financial measure, to net cash provided by operating activities, which we believe to be the GAAP financial measure most directly comparable to free cash flow, as well as information regarding net cash used in investing activities and net cash used in financing activities.

Constant Currency

In discussing our operating results, the term currency exchange rates refers to the currency exchange rates we use to convert the operating results for all countries where the functional currency is not the U.S. dollar. We calculate the effect of changes in currency exchange rates as the difference between current period activity translated using the current period's currency exchange rates, and the comparable prior year period's currency exchange rates. Throughout our discussion, we refer to the results of this calculation as the impact of currency exchange rate fluctuations. When we refer to constant currency operating results, this means operating results without the impact of the currency exchange rate fluctuations and without the impact of acquisitions, if any, until the acquisitions are included in both comparable periods. The disclosure of constant currency amounts or results permits investors to understand better Walmart's underlying performance without the effects of currency exchange rate fluctuations or acquisitions.

The table below reflects the calculation of constant currency for net sales and operating income for the three and nine months ended October 31, 2014.

Underlying EPS

The underlying diluted earnings per share from continuing operations attributable to Walmart ("Underlying EPS") for the three months and the fiscal year ended Jan. 31, 2014 is considered a non-GAAP financial measure under the SEC's rules because the Underlying EPS for each such period includes certain amounts not included in the diluted earnings per share from continuing operations attributable to Walmart calculated in accordance with GAAP ("EPS") for the three months and the fiscal year ended Jan. 31, 2014. Management believes that the Underlying EPS for the three months and the fiscal year ended Jan. 31, 2014 is a meaningful metric to share with investors because that metric, which adjusts EPS for each of such periods for certain items recorded in the three months and fiscal year ended Jan. 31, 2014, is the metric that best compares with the EPS for the three months and the fiscal year ended Jan. 31, 2013, respectively. In addition, the metric affords investors a view of what management considers Walmart's core earnings performance for the three months and the fiscal year ended Jan. 31, 2014 and also affords investors the ability to make a more informed assessment of such core earnings performance for each of such periods when compared to Walmart's earnings performance for the three months and the fiscal year ended Jan. 31, 2013, respectively.

We have calculated the Underlying EPS for the three months and the fiscal year ended Jan. 31, 2014 by adjusting the EPS for each period for the amount of the dilutive impact of: (1) Brazil non-income tax contingencies ("Brazil Taxes"); (2) Brazil employment claim contingencies ("Brazil Employment Matters"); (3) the closure of 54 underperforming Brazil and China stores ("Store Closures"); (4) China store lease expense charges ("Lease Matters"); (5) the India transaction ("India Transaction"); and (6) Sam's Club U.S. staff restructuring and club closure ("Sam's Restructuring").

Underlying EPS for the three months and the fiscal year ended Jan. 31, 2014 is a non-GAAP financial measure. The most directly comparable financial measure calculated in accordance with GAAP is EPS for the three months and the fiscal year ended Jan. 31, 2014.

Comparable Sales Measures and Sam's Club Measures

The following financial measures presented in the press release to which this reconciliation is attached are non-GAAP financial measures as defined by the SEC's rules:

- the comparable club sales of the company's Sam's Club operating segment ("Sam's Club") for the 13-week and 39-week periods ended Oct. 31, 2014 and Oct. 25, 2013, the projected comparable club sales of Sam's Club for the 13 weeks ending Jan. 30, 2015 and the comparable club sales of Sam's Club for the 13 weeks ended Jan. 31, 2014, in each case calculated by excluding Sam's Club's fuel sales for such periods (the "Sam's Club Comparable Sales Measures");
- the net sales of Sam's Club for the three months ended Oct. 31, 2014 and the percentage increase in the net sales of Sam's Club for the three months ended Oct. 31, 2014 over the net sales of Sam's Club for the three months ended Oct. 31, 2013 in each case calculated by excluding Sam's Club's fuel sales for the relevant period; and
- the segment operating income of Sam's Club for the three and nine months ended Oct. 31, 2014 and 2013, the percentage increase in the segment operating income of Sam's Club for the three months ended Oct. 31, 2014 over the segment operating income of Sam's Club for the three months ended Oct. 31, 2013, and the percentage decrease in the segment operating income of Sam's Club for the nine months ended Oct. 31, 2014 over the segment operating income of Sam's Club for the nine months ended Oct. 31, 2013, in each case calculated by excluding Sam's Club's fuel sales for the relevant period (collectively with the financial measures described in the immediately preceding bullet point, the "Sam's Club Measures").

We believe the Sam's Club comparable club sales for the historical periods for which the corresponding Sam's Club Comparable Sales Measures are presented calculated by including fuel sales are the financial measures computed in accordance with GAAP most directly comparable to the respective Sam's Club Comparable Sales Measures. We believe Sam's Club's projected comparable club sales for the 13-week period ending Jan. 30, 2015 calculated by including fuel sales is the financial measure computed in accordance with GAAP most directly comparable to the projected comparable club sales of Sam's Club for the 13-week period ending Jan. 30, 2015 calculated by excluding fuel sales. We believe the reported Sam's Club's net sales, percentage increase in net sales, segment operating income and percentage increase in segment operating income for the periods for which the corresponding Sam's Club Measures are presented are the most directly comparable financial measures computed in accordance with GAAP to the respective Sam's Club Measures.

We believe that the presentation of the Sam's Club Comparable Sales Measures and the Sam's Club Measures provides useful information to investors regarding the company's financial condition and results of operations because that information permits investors to understand the effect of the fuel sales of Sam's Club, which are affected by the volatility of fuel prices, on Sam's Club's comparable club sales and on Sam's Club's net sales and operating income for the periods presented.
