BENTONVILLE, Ark., Feb. 22, 2011 -- Wal-Mart Stores, Inc. (NYSE: WMT) today reported financial results for the quarter and the year ended Jan. 31, 2011. Net sales for the fourth quarter of fiscal year 2011 were $115.6 billion, an increase of 2.5 percent from $112.8 billion in the fourth quarter last year.

2

Net sales included a currency exchange rate benefit of $664 million. Income from continuing operations attributable to Walmart for the quarter was $5.0 billion, up from $4.8 billion in the fourth quarter last year.

Diluted earnings per share from continuing operations attributable to Walmart ("reported EPS") for the fourth quarter of fiscal year 2011 were $1.41. The underlying diluted earnings per share from continuing operations attributable to Walmart ("underlying EPS") were $1.34³, exceeding consensus estimates and company guidance. Underlying EPS for the fourth quarter represents reported EPS that is adjusted to exclude the effects of certain tax benefits of $243 million, or approximately $0.07 per share. The tax benefits are due primarily to the repatriation of certain non-U.S. earnings that increased U.S. foreign tax credits.

By comparison, underlying EPS for the fourth quarter of fiscal 2010 was $1.21³. The amount reflects an adjustment to reported EPS to exclude several restructuring charges totaling $260 million ($162 million net of tax), or approximately $0.04 per share, and a net tax benefit of $372 million or approximately $0.09 per share.

For the fourth quarter, the company recognized in discontinued operations, an approximate $1.0 billion tax benefit in connection with the disposition of its German operations in fiscal 2007. This matter was resolved with the U.S. Internal Revenue Service during the fourth quarter of this fiscal year. Diluted earnings per share attributable to Walmart, inclusive of continuing operations and discontinued operations of $0.29 per share from the recognized tax benefit, were $1.70 for the fourth quarter.

Fiscal 2011 results

Net sales for the fiscal year were $419 billion, an increase of 3.4 percent over fiscal 2010. Net sales included a currency exchange rate benefit of $4.5 billion. Income from continuing operations attributable to Walmart were $15.4 billion, a 6.3 percent increase from $14.4 billion last year.

For fiscal year 2011, reported EPS and underlying EPS were $4.18 and $4.07³, respectively, versus $3.73 per share and $3.67³ per share, respectively, in the prior year. Fiscal 2011 reported EPS reflects certain tax benefits recorded in the third and fourth quarters that aggregate to approximately $0.11 per share. Diluted earnings per share attributable to Walmart for fiscal 2011, inclusive of continuing operations and discontinued operations from the recognized tax benefit, were $4.47.

Pleased with earnings performance

"We are pleased with Walmart's strong earnings performance for both the fourth quarter and the full year across our three operating segments. At the same time, we are disappointed by Walmart U.S. fourth quarter sales," said Mike Duke, Wal-Mart Stores, Inc. president and chief executive officer.

Duke pointed out that under the leadership of President and CEO Bill Simon, Walmart U.S. is implementing a four-point plan designed to deliver better results. He acknowledged that it will take some time to see positive comparable store sales.

"Some of the pricing and merchandising issues in Walmart ran deeper than we initially expected, and they require a response that will take time to see results," Duke explained. "There is no greater priority for Bill or me than getting sales back into positive territory."

³ See additional information at the end of this release regarding non-GAAP financial measures.

The Walmart U.S. four-point plan is designed to improve performance in existing stores. The points are:

- 1. EDLP price leadership. Walmart will deliver consistent every day low price on a basket of goods.
- 2. Broadest assortment possible. Walmart is always working with suppliers to deliver the broadest and most relevant assortment possible at the lowest price in the market. This includes continued focus on adding merchandise back on the shelves, as well as in action alley in the stores.
- 3. Improve remodel program. Improve store remodel efficiency and returns to right size square footage for various merchandise departments and categories.
- 4. Multi-channel initiatives. Increase access for customers through multi-channel shopping options so they can shop on their own terms.

"We are confident that through these initiatives, as well as the commitment of our 1.4 million associates, we can improve sales throughout the rest of the year," Simon said. "And, we will make meaningful progress on new store growth, as we add supercenters and expand our store format portfolio."

Duke also recognized the strong full year operating results of Walmart International and Sam's Club.

"Walmart International continues to be our growth engine, and we expect accelerated growth in emerging markets. International net sales exceeded $109 billion this year, an increase of more than 12 percent over the prior year. Every country contributed a sales increase in fiscal 2011, compared to the prior year," Duke said. "Sam's Club reached almost $50 billion in annual net sales. And, during the year, Sam's Club comp sales, excluding fuel, improved sequentially every quarter, with the fourth quarter being the strongest."

The company leveraged operating expenses for the fourth quarter and the full year, as well as maintained a strong financial position. Walmart ended the year with strong free cash flow of $10.9 billion, compared to $14.1 billion the previous year. ROI for the full year ended Jan. 31, 2011 was 19.2 percent, compared to 19.3 percent for the prior year.

"Walmart's commitment to growth, leverage and returns continues to improve value for our shareholders," added Duke. "Between dividends and share repurchases, Walmart returned a record $19.2 billion to our shareholders during the fiscal year."

Walmart repurchased $3.8 billion in shares during the fourth quarter, raising this year's total to $14.8 billion. The company has approximately $4.8 billion remaining under the current share repurchase authorization.

Guidance

"Based on our views of the global economy and our three operating segments, we expect first quarter diluted earnings per share from continuing operations attributable to Walmart to be between $0.91 and $0.96, versus last year's EPS of $0.87," said Charles Holley, executive vice president and chief financial officer. "Further, we are guiding earnings per share from continuing operations attributable to Walmart for fiscal 2012 to a range of $4.35 to $4.50. These estimates assume that currency exchange rates remain at current levels."

Underlying EPS was $4.07⁴ for fiscal year 2011, excluding approximately $0.11 per share of aggregate tax benefits recorded in the third and fourth quarters.

The company also updated the range for capital expenditures for fiscal 2012. Walmart projected on Oct. 13, 2010 that total company capital spending would range from $13.5 billion to $14.5 billion.

⁴ See additional information at the end of this release regarding non-GAAP financial measures.

"We closed fiscal 2011 having spent $12.7 billion, below the low-end of our forecast of $13.0 to $14.0 billion," Holley said. "We now expect capital expenditures for this new fiscal year to be between $12.5 and $13.5 billion. This lowers our guidance by $1.0 billion from our October forecast, and represents improved efficiency particularly in the Walmart U.S. segment, and thoughtful capital allocation to ensure our growth around the world.

"Walmart is continuing the processes to finalize the acquisitions of Massmart Holdings Limited in South Africa and the Netto stores in the U.K.," Holley explained. "Capital for these or future acquisitions are not included in this capital guidance.

"We closed the year with 985 million square feet of selling space. We continue to expect organic square footage growth between three and four percent in fiscal 2012," Holley said. "We also continue to expect net sales for fiscal 2012 to grow between four and six percent."

Segment Reclassifications

Effective Feb. 1, 2010, the company made certain changes to its internal management reporting that impacted only our segment reporting. Prior year amounts have been reclassified to conform to the current year's presentation. These changes include allocating to the segments certain information systems expenses previously included in unallocated corporate overhead and, in connection with an operational alignment, moving the Puerto Rico operations from the Walmart International segment to both the respective Walmart U.S. and Sam's Club segments. The Walmart U.S. segment now includes the company's mass merchant concept in the United States and Puerto Rico operating primarily under the "Walmart" or "Wal-Mart" brand, as well as walmart.com. Walmart International now consists of the company's operations outside the United States and Puerto Rico. The Sam's Club segment now includes the warehouse membership clubs in the United States and Puerto Rico, as well as samsclub.com.

Accounting Change

Effective May 1, 2010, the company implemented a new financial system for its operations in the United States, Canada and Puerto Rico. Concurrent with this implementation and the increased system capabilities, the company changed the level at which it applies the retail method of accounting for inventory in these operations from 13 divisions to 49 departments. The company believes the change is preferable, because applying the retail method of accounting for inventory at the departmental level better segregates merchandise with similar cost-to-retail ratios and turnover, as well as providing a more accurate cost of goods sold and ending inventory value at the lower of cost or market for each reporting period. The retrospective application of this accounting change impacted both segment and consolidated operating income, as well as consolidated net income for all comparable periods presented.

Such underlying income from continuing operations attributable to Walmart and underlying earnings per share from continuing operations attributable to Walmart are considered non-GAAP financial measures under the SEC's rules. The company considers its reported income from continuing operations attributable to Walmart and diluted income per common share from continuing operations attributable to Walmart to be the most nearly comparable financial measures calculated and presented in accordance with GAAP. Underlying income from continuing operations attributable to Walmart and underlying EPS attributable to Walmart provides information supplemental and in addition to, and not as a substitute for, the information relating to the company's diluted income per common share from continuing operations included in the press release.

These non-GAAP financial measures provide investors with an understanding of our income from continuing operations attributable to Walmart and diluted income per common share from continuing operations attributable to Walmart reflected to exclude the effect of certain tax benefits and restructuring charges listed below and assist investors in making a ready comparison to the company's underlying income from continuing operations attributable to Walmart and underlying EPS attributable to Walmart for the quarters and fiscal years ended Jan. 31, 2011 and 2010 as so adjusted against those recent, published securities analysts' estimates of the company's diluted earnings (i.e., income) per share from continuing operations for those periods that did not include the effect of such tax benefits and restructuring charges and against published average or consensus estimates of the company's diluted earnings per share from continuing operations for those periods that are based, at least in part, on such analysts' estimates.

The following table reconciles income from continuing operations attributable to Walmart and diluted income per common share from continuing operations attributable to Walmart for the periods presented, GAAP financial measures, to underlying income from continuing operations attributable to Walmart, and underlying EPS attributable to Walmart, non-GAAP financial measures:

Free Cash Flow

We define free cash flow as net cash provided by operating activities in a period minus payments for property and equipment made in that period. We generated free cash flow of $10.9 billion and $14.1 billion for the fiscal years ended Jan. 31, 2011 and 2010, respectively. Our free cash flow during the current period was principally impacted by our increased investment in inventory, partially offset by an increase in accounts payable.

Free cash flow is considered a non-GAAP financial measure under the SEC's rules. Management believes, however, that free cash flow, which measures our ability to generate additional cash from our business operations, is an important financial measure for use in evaluating the company's financial performance. Free cash flow should be considered in addition to, rather than as a substitute for, income from continuing operations as a measure of our performance and net cash provided by operating activities as a measure of our liquidity.

Additionally, our definition of free cash flow is limited, in that it does not represent residual cash flows available for discretionary expenditures due to the fact that the measure does not deduct the payments required for debt service and other contractual obligations or payments made for business acquisitions. Therefore, we believe it is important to view free cash flow as a measure that provides supplemental information to our entire statements of cash flows.

Although other companies report their free cash flow, numerous methods may exist for calculating a company's free cash flow. As a result, the method used by our management to calculate free cash flow may differ from the methods other companies use to calculate their free cash flow. We urge you to understand the methods used by another company to calculate its free cash flow before comparing our free cash flow to that of such other company.

The following table sets forth a reconciliation of free cash flow, a non-GAAP financial measure, to net cash provided by operating activities, a GAAP measure, which we believe to be the GAAP financial measure most directly comparable to free cash flow, for the fiscal years ended Jan. 31, 2011 and 2010, as well as information regarding net cash used in investing activities and net cash used in financing activities in those periods.

Calculation of Return on Investment and Return on Assets

Management believes return on investment ("ROI") is a meaningful metric to share with investors because it helps investors assess how effectively Walmart is employing its assets. Trends in ROI can fluctuate over time as management balances long-term potential strategic initiatives with any possible short-term impacts.

ROI was 19.2 percent and 19.3 percent for the fiscal years ended Jan. 31, 2011 and 2010, respectively.

We define ROI as adjusted operating income (operating income plus interest income, depreciation and amortization and rent expense) for the fiscal year or trailing twelve months divided by average invested capital during that period. We consider average invested capital to be the average of our beginning and ending total assets of continuing operations plus accumulated depreciation and amortization less accounts payable and accrued liabilities for that period, plus a rent factor equal to the rent for the fiscal year or trailing twelve months multiplied by a factor of eight.

ROI is considered a non-GAAP financial measure under the SEC's rules. We consider return on assets ("ROA") to be the financial measure computed in accordance with GAAP that is the most directly comparable financial measure to ROI as we calculate that financial measure. ROI differs from ROA (which is income from continuing operations for the fiscal year or trailing twelve months divided by average total assets of continuing operations for the period) because ROI: adjusts operating income to exclude certain expense items and adds interest income; adjusts total assets from continuing operations for the impact of accumulated depreciation and amortization, accounts payable and accrued liabilities; and incorporates a factor of rent to arrive at total invested capital.

Although ROI is a standard financial metric, numerous methods exist for calculating a company's ROI. As a result, the method used by Walmart's management to calculate ROI may differ from the methods other companies use to calculate their ROI. We urge you to understand the methods used by another company to calculate its ROI before comparing our ROI to that of such other company.

The calculation of ROI along with reconciliation to the calculation of ROA, the most comparable GAAP financial measurement, is as follows:
