Title:	Executive Vice President and Chief Financial Officer

Walmart U.S. Q1 comp sales¹ grew 3.4% and Walmart U.S. eCommerce sales grew 37%, Company reports Q1 FY'20 GAAP EPS of $1.33; Adjusted EPS² of $1.13, led by strength at Walmart U.S.

- ✱ Total revenue was $123.9 billion, an increase of $1.2 billion, or 1.0%. Excluding currency², total revenue was $125.8 billion, an increase of $3.1 billion, or 2.5%.
- ✱ Walmart U.S. comp sales of 3.4% marks the best Q1 comp in 9 years and is the fourth consecutive quarter above 3%. Operating income was better than expected, up 5.5%.
- ✱ Walmart U.S. eCommerce sales growth of 37% reflects strong growth in online grocery, as well as the Home and Fashion categories on Walmart.com.
- ✱ Sam's Club comp sales¹ increased 0.3%, and eCommerce sales grew about 28%. Reduced tobacco sales negatively affected comp sales by 270 basis points.
- ✱ Net sales at Walmart International were $28.8 billion, a decline of 4.9%. Excluding currency², net sales were $30.6 billion, an increase of 1.2%.
- ✱ Operating income declined 4.1%, or 3.0% in constant currency², which was better than planned as strong results from Walmart U.S. and Sam's Club were offset by the inclusion of Flipkart this year.
- ✱ Adjusted EPS² excludes an unrealized gain, net of tax, of $0.20 on the company's equity investment in JD.com.

"We're changing to enable more innovation, speed and productivity, and we're seeing it in our results. We're especially pleased with the combination of comparable sales growth from stores and eCommerce in the U.S. Our team is demonstrating an ability to serve customers today while building new capabilities for the future, and I want to thank them for a strong start to the year."

President and CEO, Walmart

Comparable sales is a metric that indicates the performance of our existing stores and clubs and it is important to review in conjunction with the Company's financial results reported in accordance with GAAP. Comparable sales excluding fuel is also an important, separate metric that indicates the performance of our existing stores and clubs without considering fuel, which is volatile and unpredictable. Other companies in our industry may calculate comparable sales differently, limiting the comparability of the metric.

Walmart Inc.
Reconciliations of and Other Information Regarding Non-GAAP Financial Measures
(Unaudited)

The following information provides reconciliations of certain non-GAAP financial measures presented in the press release to which this reconciliation is attached to the most directly comparable financial measures calculated and presented in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles (GAAP). The company has provided the non-GAAP financial information presented in the press release, which is not calculated or presented in accordance with GAAP, as information supplemental and in addition to the financial measures presented in the press release that are calculated and presented in accordance with GAAP. Such non-GAAP financial measures should not be considered superior to, as a substitute for or alternative to, and should be considered in conjunction with, the GAAP financial measures presented in the press release. The non-GAAP financial measures in the press release may differ from similar measures used by other companies.

Constant Currency

In discussing our operating results, the term currency exchange rates refers to the currency exchange rates we use to convert the operating results for countries where the functional currency is not the U.S. dollar into U.S. dollars or for countries experiencing hyperinflation. We calculate the effect of changes in currency exchange rates as the difference between current period activity translated using the current period's currency exchange rates and the comparable prior year period's currency exchange rates. Additionally, no currency exchange rate fluctuations are calculated for non-USD acquisitions until owned for 12 months.

Throughout our discussion, we refer to the results of this calculation as the impact of currency exchange rate fluctuations. When we refer to constant currency operating results, this means operating results without the impact of the currency exchange rate fluctuations. The disclosure of constant currency amounts or results permits investors to better understand Walmart's underlying performance without the effects of currency exchange rate fluctuations.

The table below reflects the calculation of constant currency for total revenues, net sales and operating income for the three months ended April 30, 2019.

Free Cash Flow

We define free cash flow as net cash provided by operating activities in a period minus payments for property and equipment made in that period. We had net cash provided by operating activities of $3.6 billion for the three months ended April 30, 2019, which declined when compared to $5.2 billion for the three months ended April 30, 2018 primarily due to an increase in inventory related to accelerated buying in certain categories, the timing of sell through for summer seasonal merchandise, increased eCommerce fulfillment center mirroring, and the timing of payments. We generated free cash flow of $1.4 billion for the three months ended April 30, 2019, which declined when compared to $3.3 billion for the three months ended April 30, 2018 due to the same reasons as the decline in net cash provided by operating activities, as well as $0.4 billion in increased capital expenditures.

Free cash flow is considered a non-GAAP financial measure. Management believes, however, that free cash flow, which measures our ability to generate additional cash from our business operations, is an important financial measure for use in evaluating the company's financial performance. Free cash flow should be considered in addition to, rather than as a substitute for, consolidated net income as a measure of our performance and net cash provided by operating activities as a measure of our liquidity.

Additionally, Walmart's definition of free cash flow is limited, in that it does not represent residual cash flows available for discretionary expenditures, due to the fact that the measure does not deduct the payments required for debt service and other contractual obligations or payments made for business acquisitions. Therefore, we believe it is important to view free cash flow as a measure that provides supplemental information to our Consolidated Statements of Cash Flows.

Although other companies report their free cash flow, numerous methods may exist for calculating a company's free cash flow. As a result, the method used by Walmart's management to calculate our free cash flow may differ from the methods used by other companies to calculate their free cash flow.

The following table sets forth a reconciliation of free cash flow, a non-GAAP financial measure, to net cash provided by operating activities, which we believe to be the GAAP financial measure most directly comparable to free cash flow, as well as information regarding net cash used in investing activities and net cash used in financing activities.

Net cash used in investing activities ¹	$ (1,135)	$ (1,682)
Net cash used in financing activities	(846)	(2,486)

¹ "Net cash used in investing activities" includes payments for property and equipment, which is also included in our computation of free cash flow.

Adjusted EPS

Adjusted diluted earnings per share attributable to Walmart (Adjusted EPS) is considered a non-GAAP financial measure under the SEC's rules because it excludes certain amounts not excluded in the diluted earnings per share attributable to Walmart calculated in accordance with GAAP (EPS), the most directly comparable financial measure calculated in accordance with GAAP. Management believes that Adjusted EPS is a meaningful measure to share with investors because it best allows comparison of the performance for the comparable period. In addition, Adjusted EPS affords investors a view of what management considers Walmart's core earnings performance and the ability to make a more informed assessment of such core earnings performance.

We have calculated Adjusted EPS for the three months by adjusting EPS for the unrealized gains and losses on the company's equity investment in JD.com. We adjust for these unrealized gains and losses because although the Company's investment in JD.com was a strategic decision for the company's retail operations in China, management's measurement of that strategy is primarily focused on the Walmart China financial results rather than the investment value of JD.com. Additionally, management does not forecast changes in fair value of its equity investments. Accordingly, management adjusts EPS for the unrealized JD.com investment gains/losses.

As previously disclosed in our fiscal year ended April 30, 2018 press release, we have calculated Adjusted EPS for the three months ended April 30, 2018 by adjusting EPS for the following: (1) unrealized gains and losses on JD.com, and (2) adjustment to the provisional amount recorded in Q4 fiscal 2018 related to Tax Reform. The Company completed its accounting for Tax Reform during the fourth quarter of fiscal 2019. The most directly comparable financial measure calculated in accordance with GAAP is EPS for the three months ended April 30, 2018.

³ Debt to total capitalization calculated as of April 30, 2019. Increase versus prior comparable period primarily due to a debt issuance to fund a portion of the purchase price for the Flipkart acquisition. Debt includes short-term borrowings, long-term debt due within one year, finance lease obligations due within one year, long-term debt and long-term finance lease obligations. Total capitalization includes debt and total Walmart shareholders' equity.

⁴ In the first quarter of FY20, we updated our definition of traffic as a component of comparable sales to be all sales transactions in our stores as well as for eCommerce. Traffic will now be called transactions. For comparability, we revised this metric for FY19 and have provided a quarterly summary on our website at <http://www.stock.walmart.com>.

Walmart U.S. - quarterly financial highlights

Sales

- Comp sales¹ increased 3.4%, the highest Q1 comp in nine years. Comp ticket increased 2.3% and comp transactions grew 1.1%. eCommerce contributed approximately 140 basis points to segment comp sales growth. Online grocery was a meaningful contributor to eCommerce growth.
- On a two-year stacked basis, comp sales were up 5.5% and comp transactions were up 2.5%.
- The shift in government SNAP assistance early in the year negatively affected Q1 comp sales by an amount similar to the benefit realized in Q4.
- Sales trends improved throughout the quarter and we finished with strong Easter holiday sales.

Gross profit rate

- Gross profit rate was better than expected and increased 6 basis points due primarily to favorable merchandise mix, including strength in private brands, less pressure from transportation costs, and improved eCommerce margins, partially offset by continued price investments.

Expenses

- Operating expenses leveraged 10 basis points. Physical stores leveraged expenses for the ninth consecutive quarter largely due to productivity improvements and better sales, partially offset by the growing mix of eCommerce.

Inventory

- Comp store inventory was up about 3.1% and total inventory was up approximately 5.9%. This is due in part to accelerated buying in certain categories, timing of sales for summer seasonal merchandise, and increased mirroring of inventory in eCommerce fulfillment centers. We expect quantities to normalize as the year progresses.

Format growth

- We had net closures of 2 Supercenters and 9 Neighborhood Markets. We remodeled 100 stores.
- As of Q1, we had approximately 2,450 grocery pickup locations, nearly 1,000 stores with grocery delivery and more than 900 pickup towers.

¹ Comp sales for the 13-week period ended April 26, 2019, excluding fuel.

Walmart U.S. - quarterly merchandise highlights

Category	Comp	Comments
Grocery ¹	+ mid single-digit	Momentum continued in food and consumables with strong comp sales despite the pull-forward of SNAP funding into Q4. Snack & beverages and pet categories were particularly strong. Customers are responding favorably to our pricing strategy, omni-channel offer and enhanced private brands. Food inflation was negligible, but we saw a modest increase in consumables inflation.
Health & wellness	+ mid single-digit	Pharmacy comp sales benefited from branded drug inflation. In addition, 90-day script counts increased due to a later cold, cough and flu season versus last year.
General merchandise ²	+ low single-digit	We delivered solid results across key categories due in part to strong Easter holiday sales. Home, lawn & garden, toys and wireless categories were the strongest performers during the quarter.

² General merchandise includes entertainment, toys, hardlines, apparel, home and seasonal.

Walmart International - quarterly financial highlights

Sales

- Positive comp sales in three of our four largest markets - Mexico, China and Canada. In the U.K., comps were negative as a result of the timing of Easter.
- The deconsolidation of Brazil was a headwind in the quarter but was partially offset by sales from Flipkart.
- Currency negatively affected net sales by $1.8 billion.

Gross profit

- Gross profit rate declined 172 basis points on a reported basis, primarily due to Flipkart. A change in mix towards lower margin categories and price investments were also contributing factors in certain other markets.

Expenses

- Operating expenses leveraged 30 basis points on a reported basis and 19 basis points in constant currency. Lapping discrete charges from the prior year as well as positive comp sales and cost discipline across multiple markets contributed to the performance.

Operating income

- Operating income in the quarter declined 41.7% on a reported basis and declined 37.5% in constant currency, primarily due to Flipkart.
 - Timing of the Easter holiday negatively affected operating income in certain markets.
- Changes in currency rates resulted in a $52 million headwind to operating income.

Inventory

- During the quarter, inventory outpaced sales on a reported basis as planning for the shift in the timing of Easter affected certain markets.

Walmart International - key market highlights

Walmex

- Net sales increased 5.0% and comp sales increased 3.6%, led by strength in Mexico.
 - In Mexico, comp sales increased 4.7% or 14.7% on a two-year stacked basis.
 - Added 41 stores in Mexico that offer online grocery bringing the total number of stores with this service to 236.
 - Continued expansion with the opening of 12 new stores (9 new stores in Mexico and 3 new locations in Central America).
- Comp sales growth continued to outpace ANTAD¹ self-service and clubs; Walmex has now outperformed the market for 17 consecutive quarters.
 - Increased eCommerce sales in Mexico by 49%.
- Gross profit rate declined primarily as a result of a higher level of markdowns as well as additional costs associated with a border disruption for apparel imports.
- Operating income increased slightly as lower gross margins pressured results.

China

- Net sales increased 1.4% and comp sales increased 0.4%.
- Sales were affected by certain factors, including soft sales in the hypermarket format.
- Gross profit rate declined as a result of a greater mix of lower margin Sam's Club sales as well as additional markdowns in general merchandise categories.
- Operating expense leverage is primarily due to store cost controls resulting from our "operate for less" program, which included lower supplies, labor and utility costs.
- Operating income declined primarily as a result of gross margin pressures.

¹ ANTAD - Asociación Nacional de Tiendas de Autoservicio y Departamentales; The National Association of Supermarkets and Department Stores

Walmart International - key market highlights

Canada

- Net sales increased 1.3%, with comp sales growth of 1.2%.
 - Comp sales growth benefited from strength in grocery and fresh, partially offset by softer sales in general merchandise and apparel.
- Gross profit rate declined primarily due to the change in mix to lower margin grocery categories as well as a greater level of markdowns in apparel.
- Operating expense leverage is primarily due to lapping a charge from the prior year related to the sale of Walmart Canada bank.
- Operating income declined primarily as a result of increases to minimum wages and the decline in gross profit.

U.K.

- Net sales increased by 0.6%, as comp sales declined 1.1%.
 - The timing of Easter negatively affected net sales and resulted in negative comp sales.
 - Sales of private label products and growth in online grocery each outpaced the market.
 - Customer experience improved through a better price position and shelf availability.
- Gross profit rate declined primarily as a result of increased fuel sales with lower margins.
- Operating expenses deleveraged, as planned, primarily due to cost inflationary pressures, omnichannel expansion and costs associated with the proposed merger.
- Operating income declined, as planned, as a result of the decline in gross profit margin and expense deleverage.

NP - Not provided

Sam's Club - quarterly financial highlights

Sales

- Comp sales¹ increased 0.3% and comp transactions grew 4.7%. Tobacco negatively affected comp sales by approximately 270 basis points.
- eCommerce sales increased approximately 28%.

Gross profit

- Gross profit rate increased 47 basis points and 68 basis points, with and without fuel, respectively. Lower margins on fuel negatively affected gross profit. Without fuel, gross profit rate benefited from a reduction in sales of tobacco and lapping costs associated with closed clubs. These benefits were partially offset by increased eCommerce fulfillment and shipping costs.

Operating expenses

- Operating expenses as a percentage of net sales decreased 32 and 24 basis points, with and without fuel, respectively. Operating expense leverage is primarily the result of lapping a charge of approximately $50 million related to lease exit costs associated with club closures. This was partially offset by a reduction in sales of tobacco.

Membership income

- Membership income increased 0.9%. Trends in membership improved, and membership count is greater than prior to the closure of nearly 10% of the club base in January 2018.

Inventory

- Inventory increased 3.7% primarily due to eCommerce, including additional fulfillment centers and promotional events. Comp club inventory increased 1.0%.

Non-GAAP measures - ROI

We include Return on Assets ("ROA"), which is calculated in accordance with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles ("GAAP") as well as Return on Investment ("ROI") as measures to assess returns on assets. Management believes ROI is a meaningful measure to share with investors because it helps investors assess how effectively Walmart is deploying its assets. Trends in ROI can fluctuate over time as management balances long-term strategic initiatives with possible short-term impacts. We consider ROA to be the financial measure computed in accordance with GAAP that is the most directly comparable financial measure to our calculation of ROI.

ROA was 4.0 percent and 4.8 percent for the trailing twelve months ended April 30, 2019 and 2018, respectively. The decline in ROA was primarily due to the decrease in consolidated net income over the trailing twelve months, primarily resulting from the $4.5 billion net loss in fiscal 2019 related to the sale of the majority stake in Walmart Brazil and net unrealized loss on our JD.com investment. ROI was 14.5 percent and 13.9 percent for the trailing twelve months ended April 30, 2019 and 2018, respectively. The increase in ROI was due to the increase in operating income over the trailing twelve months primarily as a result of lapping the restructuring and impairment charges in the fourth quarter of fiscal 2018. The denominator remained relatively flat as the increase in average total assets due to the Flipkart Acquisition was largely offset by the decrease in average invested capital resulting from the removal of the eight times rent factor upon adoption of ASU 2016-02, Leases ("ASU 2016-02") as operating lease right of use assets are now included in total assets.

We define ROI as adjusted operating income (operating income plus interest income, depreciation and amortization, and rent expense) for the trailing 12 months divided by average invested capital during that period. We consider average invested capital to be the average of our beginning and ending total assets, plus average accumulated depreciation and average amortization, less average accounts payable and average accrued liabilities for that period. Upon adoption of ASU 2016-02, rent for the trailing 12 months multiplied by a factor of 8 is no longer included in the calculation of ROI on a prospective basis as operating lease assets are now capitalized. For fiscal 2020, lease related assets and associated accumulated amortization are included in the denominator at their carrying amount as of the current balance sheet date, rather than averaged, because they are no longer directly comparable to the prior year calculation which included rent for the trailing 12 months multiplied by a factor of 8. A two-point average will be used for leased assets beginning in fiscal 2021, after one full year from the date of adoption of the new lease standard. Further, beginning prospectively in fiscal 2020, rent expense in the numerator excludes short-term and variable lease costs as these costs are not included in the operating lease right of use asset balance.

Prior to adoption of ASU 2016-02, we defined ROI as adjusted operating income (operating income plus interest income, depreciation and amortization, and rent expense) for the trailing 12 months divided by average invested capital during that period. We considered average invested capital to be the average of our beginning and ending total assets, plus average accumulated depreciation and average amortization, less average accounts payable and average accrued liabilities for that period, plus a rent factor equal to the rent for the fiscal year or trailing 12 months multiplied by a factor of 8, which estimated the hypothetical capitalization of our operating leases. Because the new lease standard was adopted prospectively as of February 1, 2019, our calculation of ROI for the comparable fiscal 2019 period was not recast.

Our calculation of ROI is considered a non-GAAP financial measure because we calculate ROI using financial measures that exclude and include amounts that are included and excluded in the most directly comparable GAAP financial measure. For example, we exclude the impact of depreciation and amortization from our reported operating income in calculating the numerator of our calculation of ROI. As mentioned above, we consider ROA to be the financial measure computed in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles most directly comparable to our calculation of ROI. ROI differs from ROA (which is consolidated net income for the period divided by average total assets for the period) because ROI: adjusts operating income to exclude certain expense items and adds interest income; adjusts total assets for the impact of accumulated depreciation and amortization, accounts payable and accrued liabilities to arrive at total invested capital. Because of the adjustments mentioned above, we believe ROI more accurately measures how we are deploying our key assets and is more meaningful to investors than ROA. Although ROI is a standard financial measure, numerous methods exist for calculating a company's ROI. As a result, the method used by management to calculate our ROI may differ from the methods used by other companies to calculate their ROI.

Non-GAAP measures - free cash flow

We define free cash flow as net cash provided by operating activities in a period minus payments for property and equipment made in that period. We had net cash provided by operating activities of $3.6 billion for the three months ended April 30, 2019, which declined when compared to $5.2 billion for the three months ended April 30, 2018 primarily due to an increase in inventory related to accelerated buying in certain categories, the timing of sell through for summer seasonal merchandise, increased eCommerce fulfillment center mirroring, and the timing of payments. We generated free cash flow of $1.4 billion for the three months ended April 30, 2019, which declined when compared to $3.3 billion for the twelve months ended April 30, 2018 due to the same reasons as the decline in net cash provided by operating activities, as well as $0.4 billion in increased capital expenditures.

Free cash flow is considered a non-GAAP financial measure. Management believes, however, that free cash flow, which measures our ability to generate additional cash from our business operations, is an important financial measure for use in evaluating the company's financial performance. Free cash flow should be considered in addition to, rather than as a substitute for, consolidated net income as a measure of our performance and net cash provided by operating activities as a measure of our liquidity. Additionally, Walmart's definition of free cash flow is limited, in that it does not represent residual cash flows available for discretionary expenditures, due to the fact that the measure does not deduct the payments required for debt service and other contractual obligations or payments made for business acquisitions. Therefore, we believe it is important to view free cash flow as a measure that provides supplemental information to our Consolidated Statements of Cash Flows. Although other companies report their free cash flow, numerous methods may exist for calculating a company's free cash flow. As a result, the method used by Walmart's management to calculate our free cash flow may differ from the methods used by other companies to calculate their free cash flow.

The following table sets forth a reconciliation of free cash flow, a non-GAAP financial measure, to net cash provided by operating activities, which we believe to be the GAAP financial measure most directly comparable to free cash flow, as well as information regarding net cash used in investing activities and net cash used in financing activities.

(Dollars in millions)	Fiscal Years Ended April 30,
	2019	2018
Net cash provided by operating activities	$ 3,563	$ 5,161
Payments for property and equipment (capital expenditures)	(2,205)	(1,818)
Free cash flow	$ 1,358	$ 3,343
Net cash used in investing activities ¹	$ (1,135)	$ (1,682)
Net cash used in financing activities	(846)	(2,486)

¹ "Net cash used in investing activities" includes payments for property and equipment, which is also included in our computation of free cash flow.

Non-GAAP measures - constant currency

In discussing our operating results, the term currency exchange rates refers to the currency exchange rates we use to convert the operating results for countries where the functional currency is not the U.S. dollar into U.S. dollars or for countries experiencing hyperinflation. We calculate the effect of changes in currency exchange rates as the difference between current period activity translated using the current period's currency exchange rates and the comparable prior year period's currency exchange rates. Additionally, no currency exchange rate fluctuations are calculated for non-USD acquisitions until owned for 12 months.

Throughout our discussion, we refer to the results of this calculation as the impact of currency exchange rate fluctuations. When we refer to constant currency operating results, this means operating results without the impact of the currency exchange rate fluctuations. The disclosure of constant currency amounts or results permits investors to better understand Walmart's underlying performance without the effects of currency exchange rate fluctuations. The table below reflects the calculation of constant currency for total revenues, net sales and operating income for the three months ended April 30, 2019.

Non-GAAP measures - adjusted EPS

Adjusted diluted earnings per share attributable to Walmart (Adjusted EPS) is considered a non-GAAP financial measure under the SEC's rules because it excludes certain amounts not excluded in the diluted earnings per share attributable to Walmart calculated in accordance with GAAP (EPS), the most directly comparable financial measure calculated in accordance with GAAP. Management believes that Adjusted EPS is a meaningful measure to share with investors because it best allows comparison of the performance for the comparable period. In addition, Adjusted EPS affords investors a view of what management considers Walmart's core earnings performance and the ability to make a more informed assessment of such core earnings performance.

We have calculated Adjusted EPS for the three months by adjusting EPS for the unrealized gains and losses on the company's equity investment in JD.com. We adjust for these unrealized gains and losses because although the Company's investment in JD.com was a strategic decision for the company's retail operations in China, management's measurement of that strategy is primarily focused on the Walmart China financial results rather than the investment value of JD.com. Additionally, management does not forecast changes in fair value of its equity investments. Accordingly, management adjusts EPS for the unrealized JD.com investment gains/losses.

	Three Months Ended April 30, 2019			Percent Change
Diluted earnings per share:
Reported EPS ²			$ 1.33	84.7%

Adjusted EPS ²			$ 1.13	(0.9)%

² The reported effective tax rate was 24.3% for the three months ended April 30, 2019. When adjusted for the above items, the effective tax rate was 24.2% for the three months ended April 30, 2019.

³ Calculated based on nature of item, including any realizable deductions, and statutory rate in effect for relevant jurisdictions.

Non-GAAP measures - adjusted EPS

As previously disclosed in our fiscal year ended April 30, 2018 press release, we have calculated Adjusted EPS for the three months ended April 30, 2018 by adjusting EPS for the following: (1) unrealized gains and losses on JD.com, and (2) adjustment to the provisional amount recorded in Q4 fiscal 2018 related to Tax Reform. The Company completed its accounting for Tax Reform during the fourth quarter of fiscal 2019. The most directly comparable financial measure calculated in accordance with GAAP is EPS for the three months ended April 30, 2018.

Three Months Ended April 30, 2018
Diluted earnings per share:
Reported EPS ²			$0.72
Adjustments:
